Dear Ronnie:

We have prepared your file and are ready to turn it over to your father or whomever you designate. Virtually all of my work product is enclosed in the file. A few notes which I prepared for my own use have been retained, however many items of discovery and memoranda annotated by me are in the file. I have not copied all of these because I do not anticipate I will represent you in any further proceedings. I am turning this over to you because you requested me to do so. As I wrote you on May 8, 2000 these materials are basically in the form they were in when your trial ended. I am sure that by combining my records with David Lloyd's, you will have a very complete record of everything that was done.

Very truly yours,

John B. Hatfield, Jr.
