Ronnie's Hello! I was surprised to hear from you. Surprised but glad.

Everything here is going along smoothly and not much has changed. My father has good days and bad days. There have been a couple of severe relapses that have put him back in the hospital but that's to be expected. I'm okay. Just plugging along.

What happened with your mom's new dog? Hasn't she had it almost a year? That's a fairly long span to have the dog just up and die. Wopu is doing really well - he'll be 12 in December. Because of his age, he's going through psychological changes that are affecting him. Namely, he has seizures when I leave him. The doctor says it's separation anxiety. It's just tough for me because I have no choice but to wope.

Are you and Ted in the same area?
Were you both transferred together?
Your mom and dad can visit you on the same day but can they visit you at the same time? Is the drive a lot longer than the drive to Jackson? Are you happier with this camp? I'd be interested in hearing about the differences and how they are affecting you.

I returned the phone call request sheet to Mr Jordan as requested. Of course I gave you permission to call. But I must be honest with you:- I'm not sure that it would be a good idea to call. I've been dating a guy for about 6 weeks and it has the potential to be a good relationship. It's still too early to tell. Anyway, he knows about the problems with the County and has not judged me in any way on that. In fact, he feels that it was a set-up. I'm not sure that he would understand you and I still being in contact, though. As I've said before, though, the relationship is still very new and there's no guarantee that it will last. Have you heard from or seen Kim?

Take care and continue to pray for justice. 7/4 Janet
